CPD Overview

At Booth Industries International Ltd. we are proud to be recognised as a worldwide market leader and innovator, specialising in the design, manufacture, supply and installation of high-performance bespoke and engineered doorsets. We look forward to delivering you a complete turnkey service, tailored to your specific project needs, and providing you with complete project management, assurance and full life cycle support.

Booth Industries is a world-renowned provider of high performance, high integrity protection systems, specialising in certified, engineered and bespoke multi-protection doorsets.

We are now in the unique market position of being the only provider of a complete portfolio of performance-certified steel doors , as well as having the ability to innovate and lead development through design where the client or project demands.

We relish the opportunity to use our experience and diversity to add unrivalled value to our customers needs in the most demanding of sectors, such as nuclear, infrastructure, defence, security and offshore oil and gas.

Today, the business has been at the forefront of the high-performance assurance market for over 40 years. We continue to have lasting success on some of the UK's largest construction and infrastructure projects, including London Underground, Crossrail, Sellafield, AWE, BAE Barrow & HS2.
